MRS. HARPER'S DEATH.

We learn just before going to press of the death of Mrs. Vinna M.
Harper, widow of the late George W. Harper, which occurred Thursday evening about 9 o'clock. The deceased suffered a paralytic stroke
last Wednesday and in her fall received a broken hip. The funeral will be held Monday from the residence. A more extended notice next issue.

No Dust, No Light.

Diffusion of light through the atmosphere is due to thousands of millions of dust-atoms floating in it. The finest dust floats highest, and imparts the tint of blue to the heavens. Were it not for dust the sky by day would appear black, and the moon and stars would be visible. All shadows would be different. It is not "the light" we see, but simply reflections caused by notes of dust, as when a ray of sunlight enters a dark room
through a hole in the shutters. Millions of dust particles catch the light, reflecting it back and forth from one another, so making the atmosphere luminous.

The Universal Pet.

Everybody must have a pet. If you haven't a baby, you must at least own a dog. If it isn't a dog, it may be a cat or a kitten. In other lands it may be a monkey. I have even known of those who have alligators as pets—little ones, of course. Perhaps this explains why, on a single Sunday, 40, 000 men, women and children, principally children, will flock into the Zoological garden at Bronx park in the northern part of New York city. This calendar year nearly one million and a half visitors at the park take time
—and do it with pleasure—to visit
what is known as the finest zoological exhibit as well as the largest in the world.—Harriet Oulmy, in "eslie's."

INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Sunday School Course of the Moody
Bible Institute, Chicago.)
(Copyright, 1916, Western Newspaper Union.)

LESSON FOR JUNE 4.

THE CALL OF THE WEST.

LESSON TEXT—Acts 16:1-17:15.
GOLDEN TEXT—Come over into Macedonia and help us.—Acts 16:9.

Following the commission's report
at Antioch of the decision of the Jerusalem church, Paul and Barnabas and others continued their evangelism in that city (ch. 15:35). These leaders soon felt the need of revisiting the scenes of their former labors (v. 36),
but when it came to the organization of their party, Paul refused to accede to the decision of Barnabas that John Mark should accompany them (vs. 37, 38, see Acts 14:13). So sharp a contention arose that two parties were organized. That Paul later forgave Mark is evidenced by his tender references to him.

I. A Closed Door, Ch. 16:1-8. Paul's companion for this second historioary tour were Silas (15:40), Luke (see use of word "we," v. 13), and Timothy (v. 13). The latter came of good ancestry, had good training and was of good report, still to avoid contention he submitted to the rite of circumcision (16:3). At the time of the Jerusalem decree, to establish or to confirm the churches and to add to these churches new converts. But that did not entirely fulfill Paul's commission (9:15). The word "Asia" (v. 5) means the Roman province of Asia and, strictly obeying
the Spirit's direction, Paul passed on until he came to the seaport town of Troas. At a later time Paul spoke the "word of the Lord Jesus" in Asia with wonderful effect (19: 1, 8, 19, 26, 27). It must have burned within him to have to be restrained, but he restrained, but it did not serve as an excuse for him to take a vacation, but rather to seek new fields wherein to preach. Thus he came to Troas.

II. The Macedonian Call, v. 9-13.
Paul had several epoch-making visions; on the Damascus road (9:3, 4 and 19:1); in Jerusalem (23:1); at the time of his shipwreck (27:23),
and the one we are now considering.
A vision is a knowledge of the need and of the resources at one's command. Grecian beauty, philosophy, art and culture needed Christ.
Christ was a resource adequate and available to supply that need.
This vision Paul saw; through it God called him to Macedonia. "We"
(the first use of that pronoun in the book of Acts), Paul and Luke, immediately essayed to obey.

III. The Open Door, v. 14, 15. On what seeming trifles does history turn! An outcast, wandering Jew coming to help a proud, cultured, influential foreign city, but he bears the Gospel which alone can be of help to them. Paul did not wait to investigate the field prior to establishing a working organization. He knew a better point of contact, and that was to find those in that city who knew God even though ignorant of Christ.
He began by preaching Jesus, not comparative religion, nor did he seek to be "unity centers" (v. 12, R. V.), with soup kitchens and social uplift.
Paul knew that to elevate the individual by establishing him in the faith of Christ would soon result in community uplift. On the other hand, a faith which evaporates in words and does not give tangible, concrete evidence of work may work more dangerous as to its being genuine. There was no supernatural direction as to what part of Macedonia Paul was to visit, and exorcising his common sense, Paul went at once to the principal city. He did not begin at once to preach the Gospel (v. 12, R. V.), but waited and watched for an opportunity, doubtless praying much for a favorable opening (Ch. 13: 44; 17:2, 18:4).

The "man of Macedonia" seems to have been a woman unless we consider the Philippian jailor. This open-air meeting was one of the most notable in history. The Lord opened the heart of pious Lydia and it was the turning point of the evangelization of Europe and America and the world.
God must open the hearts of men and women (John 6:44, 45; Eph. 1:17, 18; Luk. 24:46), and this he is willing and glad to do. The steps of this woman's conversion are clearly marked and present a good type. (1)
She went out to pray (v. 13). (2) She heard the word (v. 13, 14; see also John 5:24). (3) She had her heart opened by the Lord (v. 14). (4) She "gave heed to the things which were spoken" (v. 15 and Mark 1:16). (5)
She made public confession of her newly-found faith by baptism.

(6) She carried with her the whole household, perhaps children, workers in her business and servants (v. 31-33; I Cor. 1:16).

The use of the word "constrained"
in verse 15 indicates a heart hunger to be helpful by being allowed to serve.

The Philippian church often helped Paul subsequently and doubtless Lydia was a leading spirit in such service.
The history of the Christian church relates many illustrations of the leadership and prominence of women of wealth and culture.

Practical Economy

Baking powders made from alum or phosphate may be bought for a trifle less than Royal Baking Powder, which is made from cream of tartar, derived from grapes.

Alum powders are not only cheap, but they differ greatly in leavening power.

If a cheap baking powder is used for a fine cake and the cake turns out a failure there is a waste of costly materials worth more than a whole can of the cheap baking powder.

Royal Baking Powder produces the finest food, and its use therefore, results in an actual saving.

Xenia will pave eight streets this summer, a good record for one year. But then Xenia property owners have been convinced that street paving cost proves an economical investment in the long run.

The number of inquiries received by Clerk J. W. Johnson from bond houses indicates that we will have a large number of bidders for the street paving bond issue.

Mr. Walter Ballenger and wife of Springfield were guests of Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Sullenberger the first of the week.

Mr. Howard Turnbull came near losing two horses several days ago due to a team hitched to a double rolling cutter being turned too short. Two of the horses were thrown onto the cutter and badly cut. Mr. Charles Graham had an unusual experience some time ago while driving a team hitched to a sulky breaking plow across the creek that runs through his farm. Mr. Graham was proceeding up the opposite bank when the plow caught on something in the creek that threw both horses off their feet. One was plunged headfirst into the water and was so fastened that it could not get its head up. The other horse was also fastened but was fortunate in having its head free. Mr. Graham being alone and not able to make anyone hear was forced to untangle the horses in water waist deep without assistance. He managed to get the one horse's head up and fastened it to the harness of the other. He soon freed the horses from the plow and proceeded to get them and the plow to shore but not until he had fully an hour's experience in the cold water.

ORGANIZE FOR GENERAL GOOD

Live Merchants' Associations Needed by Communities.

CO-OPERATION IS NECESSARY

How to Hold Local Patronage Despite the Aggressive Assaults of Mail Order Houses—"Special" Days a Splendid Scheme That is Productive of Excellent Results.

[Copyrighted, 1914, by Thomas J. Sullivan.]

The community which does not organize for the general good of its citizens is in a precarious state, as organization accomplishes everything when it is perfect. It unites the community by one of the strongest of all ties—the desire of improving every citizen's condition.

Co-operation accomplishes everything when it is perfect. It satisfies desires, simplifies needs, foresees the wishes and becomes a constant source of benefit.

Men's hearts ought not to be set against one another, but set with one another and all against the community evil.

Unites by Strongest Tie.

Co-operation tends to wear off those prejudices which maintain destruction and animosity between business interests.

It softens and polishes the manners of men.

It disposes them to peace by establishing in their community an order of citizens bound by their interests to be the guardians of public welfare.

Live merchants' associations, live individual merchants with inventive minds, can do much toward regaining and holding the farmers' patronage now being sought and fought for by the aggressive mail order houses.

All of the merchants of a town or county co-operating as members of the right kind of an association can accomplish much to the general benefit of all concerned in the solution of the retail mail order problem.

Must Conserve All Interests.

"Too many combinations of merchants fail because too often these organizations lose sight of the law of the land, and seek to advance the selfish interests of the merchants alone at the expense of their customers."

To be permanent and beneficial, it seems to me, a merchants' association should confine itself to devising ways and means of bettering trade generally in its own town. Efforts in that direction, of course, cannot be continually successful unless the interests of consumers are also conserved.

Law of Mutual Benefit.

But, starting with the fact that both farmer and townsman are interested in making the town and country prosperous, you would have the law of mutual benefit on which to build up an association that would be powerful in convincing all the people of the section that "it pays to keep your money at home."

Getting farmers to town, it seems to me also, is the most important field of a merchants' association.

And having "special" or "bargain" days for getting them into the stores is the field of the merchant's individual efforts within which he should retain every bit of his liberty to act.

Many Merchants Offer Prices.

In many parts of the country the merchants' associations have established what they call "carnival day," or "county court day," or "fair day," or "market day," and on these days each merchant advertises that he will give prices for the largest number of eggs brought to his store, or for the best roll of butter, or for the best bushel of potatoes.

There are many other legitimate schemes which may be used to create interest and draw the people to his store.

Sometimes several merchants offer prizes of the same kind of produce, and this stimulates interest and results in sharper competition.

On these "special" days the merchants often arrange to have an expert auctioneer on hand to sell any kind of secondhand machinery or farm utensils, household goods, horses, cattle, etc., on a commission basis. If sales are made the auctioneer receives 5 per cent; if no sales are made there is no expense incurred.

Wonderfully Helpful.

Propositions of this character are wonderfully helpful in bringing people to town, and when they get to town it is a comparatively easy matter to interest them in something they need.

These "special" days, however, must be arranged to correspond with the periods of farm work.

For instance, it would be useless to arrange such days when the farmer is in the midst of planting or harvesting.

Things to Worry About.

Hot air is always overdone.

Luke McLuke Says:

Lots of men who don't own automobiles need new inner tubes.

Some married couples fight so much that the neighbors wonder why said married couples do not name their homes "The Balkans."

There are a whole lot of married women who have more confidence in their family physicians than they have in their husbands.

Every man is just crazy about girl babies when the girl babies are about fifteen years old.

It must be mighty unpleasant to be blind and to have to eat a plate of spaghetti.

One reason why men's clothes will never be popular with women is because they will stay on without being pinned.

If we are to be compelled to believe all the stories about the big whoppers that get away from the other fellows when they were fishing we will also be inclined to believe that the angels were using bologna sausages for worms.

Poor old father never gets any let up. In summer it is ice bills, and in winter it is coal bills.

Just because a fellow takes up aviation is no sign that he is interested in the higher life.

We can't fight, but if we ever met a male thing who resembled one of the dudes in the Flagg and Gibson magazine illustrations we would have a hard time controlling ourselves and keeping from mugging him up.

What has become of the old fashioned hammock that was made out of barrel staves strung on wire?

Cedarville College Summer School

The second annual session of the Cedarville College Summer School will begin on Monday, June 19, with appropriate exercises and an opening address in the college chapel at 8:30 a. m. All signs be-taken a very successful and enthusiastic summer term. With few exceptions all of last year's students will return and bring others with them. By spreading a large edition of the summer school bulletin and by an extensive correspondence, the college authorities have succeeded in interesting a large number of strangers in the enterprise and their presence will lend added life and zest to the work of the term.

The summer term will extend over six weeks, ending Friday, July 28.

A large number of additional instructors have been engaged and an effort will be made to provide for the needs of all sorts of students. Nearly all members of the regular college faculty will be on duty during the summer, and a large variety of college courses will be given for the benefit of those who wish to make college credits.

For high school teachers and for those looking forward to such work, a great many professional studies in general and special methods have been arranged, also a thorough review of all high school branches.

For elementary teacher there is the educational work of all kinds required by the law, as well as a review of all common branches.

An important feature of the work offered for teachers is that much of it may subsequently be counted towards a college degree and a state certificate.

High school students and those preparing for college can obtain work in any high school study desired.

An attractive line of special studies is offered: Music under the tuition of Mrs. Jessie Russell and Prof. George F. Siegler; domestic science and household economy of all kinds under Miss Enid Lunn, of Ohio State University; basketry and handwork under Miss Florence Clemans, of Ohio University.

The practice teaching in the elementary department will be under the direction of Supt. F. H. Young. Miss Elizabeth Blair and Miss Rosa Stormont will again have charge of the primary work.

Prof. S. C. Wright will be in charge of the practice teaching in the high school department. An attractive feature of the term will be the story-telling and instruction in story-telling given by Miss Pearl Carpenter, president of the Cincinnati Story-Teller's League.

The special features which added so much spice to last summer's work will by no means be missing this year. The "gay whirl" will begin with the opening reception the first week and there will be "something doing" nearly every night.

The work of the summer school both for high school and for elementary teachers is fully accredited by the department of public instruction, by the Ohio State University, and by the State Normal colleges at Oxford and Athens. The inspectors who recently visited the college both from the State Department of Education and from the State University were very complimentary in regard to the work being done, and it is evident that their attitude is very friendly.

The Summer School boarding club this year will be under the efficient direction of Mrs. Charles Crouse, on Miller Street.

Free tuition will be given to all children of the public schools and to any others wishing to enroll in the training department. All such children or their parents can communicate with Prof. S. C. Wright. An effort will be made to have all eight grades and classes in all high school grades.

Those who have rooms to rent should also call up Prof. Wright.

SAVE IN SAFETY

Oh! Would Some Power The Gift To Give Us
To See Ourselves As Others See Us.

DUTY TO THE COMMUNITY

Do you fully realize your duty to the community?
Do you know that the greatest asset of any city, county or state is the SOLIDITY OF ITS CITIZENSHIP?

Do you correctly gauge your influence over your fellow man? Ponder then over this statement and successfully refute it if you can.

BEHIND ALL ENTERPRISES OF CONSEQUENCE PROMOTING ALL MOVEMENTS OF PROGRESS; SUPPORTING EVERY COLUMN OF THE STRUCTURE OF CIVILIZATION ARE MEN WHO KNOW THE VALUE OF THE SAVINGS ACCOUNT.

What the future holds for you depends on what you are doing with the present. You can not spend all you earn and yet expect to rub shoulder and elbow with the men who represent the solid citizenship of the community in which you live.

Character is of Greater Importance Than Competence

And the individual who saves one-tenth of a small income, husbanding it against an emergency, is just as great an asset to the community in which he lives as his neighbor who amasses a fortune.

But Something Must Be Saved

THE Springfield Savings Society

POINTS THE WAY

It invites you to take the initial step toward personal prestige in the community. It extends to you the opportunity to Save in Safety. It spreads before you its unblemished record of Forty-three years in the banking business without a single loss. It guarantees you 4% interest on deposits compounded semi-annually. It suggests as a matter of convenience that you send your deposits by mail, thus making the two-cent stamp your errand boy in the best business venture of your life.
